

COURSE ATTENDANCE REQUIREMENTS POLICY

In upholding its commitment to safe boater education, and to ensure all students get the basic, fundamental information required to understand and complete the Boating Course successfully, the Brentwood Bay Power and Sail Squadron has instituted a Course Attendance Policy.

Policy:

- The first two classes of a new course cover material critical for the student's success. A student may therefore miss either the first or second class but not both.
- In the event that both the first and second class is missed, the student will forfeit the right to attend the course, however the students will be eligible to attend the next scheduled course.
- If a student misses any classes following the first or second class, they are responsible to maintain their reading and homework in order to keep pace with the class.
- As time can be limited by the amount of information to be covered on classroom nights, we request that students missing classes not interrupt class with questions pertaining to the content they missed. Please consult your proctor who will be happy to assist you after the class session or arrange a mutually convenient time for review.

I have read, acknowledge and agree to abide by the Brentwood Bay Power & Sail Squadron Course Attendance Requirements Policy.
